

Randy Quinn

Senior Vice President, Finance

Randy Quinn is Senior Vice President, Finance at 7-Eleven. In his role, he is responsible for providing leadership, coordination and business support across the accounting, financial planning, treasury, tax, strategy, enterprise project management, and internal audit functions.

In his 16 years with 7-Eleven, Randy has held leadership positions in a variety of functions, including New Store Development, Store Operations, Acquisition Integration, Field Merchandising, Fresh Food Merchandising, and more. Most recently, he served as Vice President of Financial & Strategic Planning.

Randy earned his MBA from The Fuqua School of Business at Duke University. Prior to Duke, he took part in the Financial Leadership Rotation Program for General Motors in his native Detroit, where he also earned a bachelor's degree in corporate finance from Wayne State University.

Randy is a member of Duke University's Fuqua School of Business Alumni Council and NACS Research and Technology Committee. He, his wife Erin, and their children live in the Dallas area.

Contact: media@7-11.com